MIMICRY AND REASON.

Indication That This Monkey Is Endowed With a Share of Each.

"That the monkey possesses intelligence to a considerable degree is probably true," said a hotel proprietor who has a small menagerie on his premises. "I believe, however, much of the intelligence with which that animal is credited is due to his love of mimicry.

"The other day two young men with two girls were at the monkey's cage feeding him peanuts. One of the girls was chewing gum, and one of the men suggested that she give the monkey some, expecting that if he took it in his mouth it would stick to his teeth, and he would make sorry work of trying to chew it. The girl at once parted with the sweet morsel she was so industriously chewing, extending it toward the cage. The monkey grabbed it instantly and put it into his mouth, but instead of chewing it, or attempting to, began pulling it out in small ribbons, as children are frequently seen to do. When he had it all out of his mouth, he rolled it into a compact ball between his hands, threw it into his mouth and began the operation again. He appeared to enjoy the performance as much as his visitors. That was imitation."

"That's all right," rejoined another, "but I had an experience with that same monkey wherein he displayed intelligence. I was by the cage smoking one day, and I thought to annoy him by blowing smoke in his face. I was much surprised to find that, instead of being annoyed, he enjoyed it, as was evidenced by his edging up as near me as possible to receive the smoke in larger volumes. Soon he began scratching himself at the point where most of the smoke came against him. When I had smoked one side for a few minutes, he would turn squarely round to have the other side treated in the same way. Then he sat up directly in front of me and received the smoke squarely in the face and neck. I don't know whether he held his breath, but he did not cough, sneeze or wince a particle. To complete the job he then sat with his back toward me, and it would have done you good to have seen him throw his hind feet over his back and scratch. It made me think of the kickers of a hay tedder in motion. Now that monkey knew, through some sort of intelligence, that nothing will send fleas and other insects to the surface or stupefy them as effectively as tobacco smoke."—Utica Observer.

COLLEGE GIRLS AND MARRIAGE.

Bits of Confession That Throw a Light on the Question.

I have no doubt that the remaining cause of the low marriage rate is that many men dislike intellectual women—whether because such women are really disagreeable or because men's taste is at fault I shall not try to determine. And even among those who like them as friends many feel as the young man did who made this confession:

"I never expected to marry the sort of girl I did. You know I always believed in intellectual equality and all that and had good friendships with the college girls. But, you see, you girls hadn't any illusions about us. After you had seen us hanging at the board on problems you could work and had taken the same degrees yourselves, you couldn't imagine us wonders just because we had gone through college, and when I met a dear little girl that thought I knew everything—why, it just keeled me right over. It was a feeling I had no idea of."

And the college woman answered:

"I will betray something to you. Lots of us are just as unreformed as you. We want just as much to look up to our husbands as you want to be looked up to. Only of course the more we know the harder it is to find somebody to meet the want. Probably the equal marriage is really the ideal one, and everybody will come to prefer it some day. But personally I like men to be superior to me. Only I'll tell you what I don't like in them—the wish to keep ahead of us by holding us back, like spoiled children that want to be given the game and then admired for their skill. If men would encourage us to do our very best, and then do still better themselves, it ought to be good for civilization."—"The Marriage Rate of College Women," by Milicent W. Shinn, in Century

The Nut Diet.

It is evident by many straws noticed in a general reading of periodical and newspaper literature that the next fad of the dietists is to be nuts. All the scientific cooking and health food authorities are urging with increasing persistence the value of this natural food and giving receipts for various nut flours, from which different varieties of bread cake may be made that are nutritious and of medicinal value in certain ailments. And now we learn that "Miss Ellen S. Atkins, a talented London woman who lost a spendid contralto voice four years ago from an attack of grip, has completely recovered her vocal powers through persisting in a fruit and nut diet for a year and a half."—New York Times.

A Short Cut.

An eccentric citizen of Philadelphia was once met by a man who asked him the way to the sheriff's office. He responded, "Every time you earn $5 spend $10."—Christian Advocate.

ERIE MEDICAL CO., Buffalo, N. Y.

THE BUSINESS MAN'S LUNCH.

Hard Work and Indigestion go Hand in Hand.

Concentrated thought, continued in, robs the stomach of necessary blood, and this is also true of hard physical labor.

When a five horse-power engine is made to do ten horse-power work something is going to break. Very often the hard-worked man coming from the field or the office will "bolt" his food in a few minutes which will take hours to digest. Then too, many foods are about as useful in the stomach as a keg of nails would be in a fire under a boiler. The ill-used stomach refuses to do its work without the proper stimulus which it gets from the blood and nerves. The nerves are weak and "ready to break," because they do not get the nourishment they require from the blood, finally the ill-used brain is morbidly wide awake when the overworked man attempts to find rest in bed.

The application of common sense in the treatment of the stomach and the whole system brings to the busy man the full enjoyment of life and healthy digestion when he takes Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets to relieve a bilious stomach or after a too hearty meal, and Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery to purify, enrich and vitalize the blood. The "Pellets" are tiny sugar-coated pills made of highly-concentrated vegetable ingredients which relieve the stomach of all offending matters easily and thoroughly. They need only be taken for a short time to cure the biliousness, constipation and slothfulness, or torpor, of the liver; then the "Medical Discovery" should be taken in teaspoonful doses to increase the blood and enrich it. It has a peculiar effect upon the lining membranes of the stomach and bowels, toning up and strengthening them for all time. The whole system feels the effect of the pure blood coursing through the body and the nerves are vitalized and strengthened, not deadened, or put to sleep, as the so-called celery compounds and nerve mixtures do—but refreshed and fed on the food they need for health. If you suffer from indigestion, dyspepsia, nervousness, and any of the ills which come from impure blood and disordered stomach, you can cure yourself with Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery which can be obtained at any drug store in the country.

NEVADA STATE JOURNAL

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 8, 1895.

THE SILVER PARTY.

The Carson Appeal sets the JOURNAL straight regarding the Press Association meeting in which it was resolved to let the Republican party get along without the aid of the newspapers. As a matter of fact the Press Association to which the Appeal refers was exclusively Republican and no one connected with the JOURNAL was a member of it. But here is what the Appeal says:

"The JOURNAL says that the meeting of the Press Association where it was resolved to turn down the Republican party was not held in its office. As a matter of fact it was not. The preliminary meeting was held in this city, and the meeting where the business was done was held in Reno. The writer had forgotten just in what place it was held, and located it in the JOURNAL office, out of compliment to Mr. Kelley who was a staunch supporter of the silver movement. As a matter of fact Mr. Kelley was not present. It is a matter of very small importance in just what building the meeting was held, but the meeting was held and it resulted exactly as we have stated."

It is a matter of little consequence how the Silver party was organized. Its principles are right and if other States would follow the example of Nevada the silver question would be settled in a short time. What is the use of men who claim to be for free coinage voting for parties whose records show that they are opposed to it? If people are sincerely in favor of the remonetization of silver, why not have the courage of their convictions and support men for President and Congress who are pledged to free coinage? Why follow the lead of demagogues and place hunters, who, while pretending to be silver men, affiliate with parties that are known to be for the gold standard? A Presidential election is at hand and all those who place free coinage and prosperity above party success should unite and elect a President and Congress that will give the country relief by changing its financial policy. The JOURNAL will advocate to the best of its ability the election of a President who stands unequivocally for free coinage on a free coinage platform regardless of party names. That is the principle on which the Silver party was organized and it is the principle on which all silver men should act.

RESULTS OF THE ELECTION.

General Bradley of Kentucky was brought to the front by last Tuesday's election as candidate for Vice President on the Republican ticket. It is urged by the Louisville Commercial, the leading Republican journal of Kentucky, that his success entitles him to national recognition. He made the campaign on a gold standard platform, framed to suit Wall street, and with the aid of Secretary Carlisle and in fact the whole administration, succeeded in demonstrating that the Republicans, assisted by Mr. Cleveland, can break up the Solid South. It is claimed that Morton of New York and Bradley of Kentucky would make a good team, one being from the Empire State and the other from south of Mason & Dixon's line.

Another probable effect of the election will be to get the Democrats to be more friendly to silver. They see that thousands deserted them on election day and supported the Republican candidate or did not vote at all because of the hostility of the Administration to free coinage. They must now understand that on a gold platform, identical with that of the Republicans, they cannot hope for success, and that there is but one course for them to pursue and that is to cut loose from Cleveland and Wall street, adopt a liberal platform, based on the principles of Jefferson and Jackson, with free coinage as its principal plank, and nominate for President a man in whom the people have confidence and who will attract the masses to his standard. Perhaps it would be advisable to change the name so as to relieve it from the odium which three years of Clevelandism has attached to it.

THE POWERS AND TURKEY.

The continual disturbances in the Turkish Empire, especially in Armenia where Christians are being butchered by the fanatical Moslems, has caused the representatives of the Western Powers at Constantinople to call on the Porte and urge that immediate measures for the restoration of order be taken. This is the second time the Embassadors have gone through the formality of warning the Porte to restore order and protect the Armenians. This time they are reported as saying that if the Turkish Government does not prevent anarchy the powers acting in concert will do so in their own way.

The Turk is an exotic in Europe. He is not indigenous to the soil. His religion and his customs are not adapted to the country and were it not for disturbing the balance of power, he would have been exterminated or forced to cross the Bosphorus a generation ago. It is possible that his brutal treatment of the Armenians may arouse a storm of indignation that will sweep him into Asia and wipe his name from the map of Europe.

A LARGE order of locomotives for the Russian railroad from the Black Sea to Vladivostock is said to have been placed in Philadelphia.

THE Director of the Mint estimates that the silver product of the United States will be from 3,000,000 to 5,000,000 ounces less in 1895 than it was in 1894.

THE VALLEY ROAD.

Opposition from the Southern Pacific Feared.

THE STANFORD ESTATE.

The Backbone of the Great Northern Strike Broken.

STRIKERS ENJOINED

A. R. U. Men Said to be Interfering With Trains.

WALLA WALLA, November 7.—At midnight last night Jay H. Adams, an attorney for the Great Northern railroad at Spokane, applied to Judge Hanford of the Federal Court, now in session here, for an order enjoining the strikers from interfering with the operation of the road. Accompanying the petition was an affidavit setting forth that Dan Reardon and other members of the A. R. U. have been unlawfully obstructing and interfering with the operation of the road, including the carrying of United States mails and interstate traffic, by means of intimidation, threats of violence upon railroad employes and threats of the destruction of their property.

Judge Hanford issued an order to the defendants to appear before him in Seattle on November 23d, showing cause why they and other members of the A. R. U. should not be restrained and enjoined from interfering with the operations of said road until such hearing. Judge Hanford issued a temporary injunction. The injunction was telegraphed to Spokane immediately and given to the Deputy United States Marshal for service.

MINNEAPOLIS, November 7.—A Devil's Lake, N. D, dispatch says: The backbone of the Great Northern strike was broken this morning by the arrival of the train with seventy special policemen, eighteen new conductors, twenty-five brakemen and three firemen. Deputies are patrolling the yards, and the trains have all been sent out. Recruits enlisted at Chicago by a detective agency are a sorry looking lot for clothing, but there has been no disturbance and none is expected.

THE VALLEY ROAD.

Opposition From the Southern Pacific Feared.

FRESNO, Cal, November 7.—Claus Spreckles, President of the Valley Railroad Company, accompanied by Robert Watt, Louis Sloss of the directory, Engineer Storey and Captain O. H. Payson, arrived last night to inspect the selected rights of way for the road through Fresno. They spent the forenoon in looking over the road. No franchise is yet applied for from the city. The railroad builders are said to fear opposition from the Southern Pacific when the franchise is offered for sale and hope that the law requiring the sale of the franchise will be declared unconstitutional by the Supreme Court. There will be opposition to the granting of the franchise on the streets before the property owners there have agreed upon the damages resulting to the property. The situation is looking complicated.

AN ACCIDENT AVERTED.

Two Horses Stuck in a Trestle.

STOCKTON, Cal., November 7.—The local train from Sacramento, due here at 8:22 P. M., had a narrow escape from a bad accident, and was saved by the thoughtfulness of a milkman, who saw the danger and went up the track and stopped the train.

The horses ran onto a high trestle over Miner Channel, inside the city limits and were found by a milkman with their legs through the openings, their bodies offering a bad obstruction. The train usually runs slow at that point, but the engineer says he does not think his engine would have remained on the track if he had run into the horses. The trestle is about twenty-five feet high.

Jumped His Bail.

SAN FRANCISCO, November 7.—J. C. Davis of Rochester, N. Y., who was arrested three months ago and charged with passing forged checks in exchange for goods on various jewelers in this city, has disappeared, leaving his bondsmen to account for his absence. Davis was accompanied by his wife, who was a daughter of a wealthy Rochester citizen. She secured her husband's release on bail. When his case was called this morning he failed to answer and his bonds in the sum of $4,000 were declared forfeited. If the police can trace Davis he will be brought back here for trial.

Admiral Schufeldt Dead.

WASHINGTON, November 7.—Rear Admiral Robert W. Schufeldt, retired, died to-day after a long illness following an attack of the grip and an accident while driving a year ago. He was appointed midshipman from New York in 1839, became Rear Admiral in May, 1883, and retired in 1884. He had a most notable record, having opened Corea to the world by treaty, surveyed the Tehuantepec canal route, and played an important part in the civil war.

Probably Insane.

SACRAMENTO, November 7.—At the request of counsel for Ivan Kovalev, on trial for the murder of F. L. H. Weber and wife eleven months ago, the Court appointed a commission of three doctors to inquire into the sanity of the prisoner. The prisoner's attorneys claimed that he did not seem to understand the surroundings or what was going on about him, and had no recollection of the past.

The examining physicians reported this afternoon that Kovalev had developed melancholia, and a special jury will be summoned to pass upon the question of his sanity.

The Russian Thistle.

SACRAMENTO, November 7.—The State Fruit Growers' Convention to-day instructed the Legislative Committee to call upon Governor Budd and urge him to call a special session of the Legislature to make an appropriation with which to pay the expenses of the extermination of the Russian thistle. It was said in the convention that the thistle had already devasted Los Angeles and Kern counties and that it is spreading toward the north at a rapid rate.

The convention also memoralized Congress to build, own and control the Nicaragua canal.

Found Dead in Bed.

OAKLAND, November 7.—Mrs. Valerie Martin, who until recently was known as Miss Valerie Hickathier, was found dead in bed this morning by a domestic. Last July deceased, who had been regarded as a single woman, created a sensation by announcing that she was the wife of Selby Martin, the son of J. West Martin, a banker and ex-Mayor of Oakland. Young Martin's engagement to marry another lady had been announced at the time. The Coroner was notified and an autopsy ordered.

Bodies Recovered.

DETROIT, November 7.—Twenty-five bodies have already been taken from the ruins of the Journal building and the search still goes on. There are yet twenty missing, swelling the probable list of dead to forty or forty-five. Besides this nineteen persons were injured, two fatally. The cause of the boiler explosion is a mystery.

At about 3 o'clock the searchers found more dead bodies.

Address to Recruits.

BERLIN, November 7.—Emperor William to-day reviewed the recruits of a regiment of the guard. His Majesty made a short speech to the young soldiers, reminding them that they now belong to his army and bidding them specially to be mindful of the honor. He added: "Before all things you should trust God to preserve your honor and be faithful to your Emperor." General Von Winterfeldt called for cheers for the Emperor, which were heartily given.

The Stanford Case

WASHINGTON, November 7.—Solicitor General Conrad will, on Monday, move to advance the case of the United States versus the Stanford estate on the United States Supreme Court docket. The motion will be based on the general importance of the case to the Government and to the Stanford University. It is understood that the motion will be set for some day in January.

California State Banks.

AN IMMENSE GRAVE.

The Piutes Believe it Contains the Bones of a Giant.

Captain Dave Numana, the big Chief of the Piutes, visited Reno yesterday He is in robust health and tips the scales at 218 pounds. He wears a coat like Jacob's, of many colors, and bright ones too, and though perhaps 65 years of age he walks erect and is as agile as a college athlete. He tells about a grave on the Pyramid Reservation that tradition says contains the remains of a giant. Generations ago another tribe was at war with the Piutes The giant came with the invaders and was a match for four ordinary men in a hand-to-hand encounter. One day a Piute who was concealed near a bluff two or three hundred feet high on the bank of the Truckee saw the giant approaching. As he came within range the Piute archer let an arrow fly at him. He missed the mark, but as the giant turned the Piute shot another arrow which struck the giant in the side and went through his heart. The Piutes buried him where he fell and to this day repair the grave, which is well defined and about nine feet long. The tracks said to have been made by the giant are also in a good state of preservation. There are a number of them and they resemble the prehistoric tracks uncovered some years ago in the stone quarry at the State prison, The tracks are six or eight feet apart and there are forty or fifty of them showing the course which the giant took across the flat.

Captain Dave says the Indians to-day have no idea whatever of the time the incident related occurred. When he was a boy 50 years ago his grandfather told him that the story of the giant's death had been told by father to son for generations and no one knew where the big man came from.

It is said that the Indian Agent thought of digging into the mound to ascertain if it contains bones or mold that would indicate that a man or an animal of any kind had been there at any time.

Salvation Army Notes.

Mrs. Maud B. Booth, Commander of the Salvation Army of this country, will pass through Reno on the 9th at 8 A. M en route for New York, accompanied by Brigadier and Mrs. Keppel of San Francisco. Personally and by letter she has expressed the deepest regret at the misunderstanding which caused the disappointment to the Reno people a few weeks ago and would gladly remedy the mistake by holding a meeting here, but her New York appointments will not admit of it, but she wishes me to state that while the train remains at the station she will gladly address those who care to assemble at that hour, which we admit is a very inopportune one. The Brigadier and wife will remain in Reno for the day and conduct two services, one at 2:30 in the Congregational Church and the other at 7 P. M. sharp at the Army hall. Subject for evening meeting: "The Army Work and its Relation to the Church." Everybody invited Free admission.

THE DONNER ICE COMPANY.

It Will Store Twenty Thousand Tons of Ice This Winter.

The Donner Ice Company, of which Colonel Joe Marzen of Lovelock is principal owner, has had about one hundred men at work during the fall building ice houses and making arrangements for harvesting and storing ice this winter. The works are located a mile and a half west of Truckee on Donner Creek. The pond is the largest on the river. It is situated where the ill-fated Donner party wintered in 1849 on Donner Meadows. Ed. Robb, who has been at work on the ice house for the last two months, informs a JOURNAL reporter that buildings for storing 20,000 tons of ice are completed. A patent elevator, such as is used on the Hudson river, New York, and the only one on the coast, has been erected, It has a capacity for hoisting seventy blocks of ice per minute and is adjustable so that it can be raised as the ice house is filled, The plant is the best on the Truckee and the location cannot be excelled in the mountains.

SOUTHERN PACIFIC CHANGES.

The General Manager Bringing Men from the Atlantic System.

It is reported in San Francisco that General Manager Kruttschnitt will bring several of his former associates on the Atlantic system to fill positions on the Pacific system of the Southern Pacific. It is also said that General Superintendent Fillmore intends to make a number of changes in the operating department. The principal changes, it is said, will be made in the divisions of Superintendent Frazer.

The District School.

The rehearsals of the District School are progressing admirably. Willie Patterson and Jakey Linn are full of mischief and are constantly playing tricks on the girls. Eddie Leadbetter chews gum in school and Natie Wilson cuts up monkey shines and makes the boys and girls laugh. Several prominent ladies will appear as little school girls and will make eyes at the boys. The play will be intensely interesting and amusing. Get your tickets early and enjoy a good laugh.

AN EARTHQUAKE.

Two Distinct Shocks a Little After One O'clock Yesterday Afternoon.

A number of people felt two distinct earthquake shocks at about half past one o'clock yesterday afternoon. No doubt many felt the vibration, but attributed the tremor to some jar about the house or building in which they happened to be at the time. The first shock occurred at 1.15 or very near that hour according to the watches of three or four different persons. The second tremor followed some five minutes later and if anything was a little stronger than the first The vibrations of the first shock were from east to west and those of the second from southeast to northwest The motion was jerky and of short duration, but was felt distinctly at the High School building, Court House and other parts of town. At the High School building the scholars were somewhat startled, but Principal Bray immediately quieted them by assuring them that there was no danger. Louis Abrahams of the White House was sitting in his store and noticed the gas fixtures swing from east to west and a little later they changed from north to south. Mr. Abrahams was satisfied by this time that there was something out of the ordinary going on so he moved towards the front door of his store. He wasn't scared nor did he have any business there, but he simply felt that he would be more comfortable out on the sidewalk than by his store in the store.

Jack Caughlin grabbed his bicycle and carried it out into the street in front of the Court House and rushed for a shovel to dig up his pet magnolia tree. When reminded that the prisoners were in the jail, he replied "they're all right, a house wouldn't fall on those fellows." A few half-jagged individuals concluded the sidewalks were more uneven than usual and immediately hunted up another jolt in order to steady their nerves. There were no panics or casualities.

LOCAL AND GENERAL NEWS.

Happenings Here, There and Everywhere.

The sugar trust has the trade under its thumb again. Not a dealer in the west would dare to sell a barrel of sugar not bearing its brand for fear that, depending upon the trust, a future supply might be refused him.

Henry Miller and Charles Lux, natives of the Rhenish provinces of Germany, and now cattlemen of the Pacific coast, own 14,000,000 acres of land in the United States. Their property is four times the area of Alsace-Lorraine and twice as large as Belgium.

The Appeal says that a few days ago Contigher Lagrave while splitting some wood hit the ax against a clothes line and the rebound caused the ax to hit him in the nose and knock him down. In all the history of the earth no man has ever been found who could knock out a clothes line with an ax.

The 17-year-old daughter of William Munnie of Sharon, Pennsylvania, had heard that if she swallowed a chicken's heart whole she would see her future husband in the next gentleman she would meet. When she tried it the heart lodged in her windpipe, Her physician says she will die.

The mills at Glenbrook will continue to work in spite of the winter. Mr. Tobey tells the Appeal that they cannot shut down for a month yet, as they have a large amount of timber in the lake which cannot be left in the water this winter. A large number of orders are on hand which will keep the mills and flume running for a month or two.

There are five inches of snow on the ground at Carlin, The storm of Sunday and Monday extended as far west as Battle Mountain, while snow also fell in the western part of the State, there being several inches on the ground at Wadsworth. The Silver State says a belt extended through the central part of the State in which no snow fell, Winnemucca lying within it.

A Change of Time Probable.

Owing to a change of time in the running of trains on the Union Pacific a change is probable on the Central. It is likely to occur on the 12th of this month. The baggage, sleepers and dining cars will go west in the morning and the mail at night. The numbers of the trains, however, will be changed. A similar change will be made on the east-bound train.

Jerry Bray Has a Close Call

Jerry Bray, the conductor on the V. & T. local, had a narrow escape at Gold Hill Tuesday night. He undertook to twist a stubborn brake, which gave away, throwing him from the top of the car between the rails. He managed to escape being run over, but had a close call.

Dr. P. T. Phillips received a telegram yesterday morning from M. Bringham at Beckwith to come there at once. He left shortly after with Geo. Hymers and the train at Chat was held so as to take him to Beckwith. The telegram did not state any particulars.

Captain Dave, who has a farm on the Indian Reservation at Pyramid Lake, says that bad white men are killing Indian horses on the range and shipping their hides. The Indians are very much excited and some of them say if they catch men killing their horses they will retaliate. The Agent, if he cares anything for his wards and means to protect their interests, should see that the horse killing business is stopped.

Beyond Description

Intense Suffering With Muscular Rheumatism.

Mr. Ezra Benedict
Stromsburgh, Neb.

"I hereby certify that for seven years I was troubled with my knee. I used prescriptions and liniments but all to no purpose. The trouble kept growing worse and the joints began to enlarge. My knee became almost stiff and pained me so I could not rest day and night. I had to use at times and often it would seem as if I would have to have my leg amputated as the pain became almost unendurable. I suffered beyond description. Finally, hearing of Hood's Sarsaparilla I concluded to try it. After I had taken one bottle I felt much better and after taking several bottles can truthfully say I am well, and that I can walk and go around as well as any one of my age. I am 63 years old and work my farm, and my ability to do so I attribute to the beneficial effects of Hood's Sarsaparilla. I advise all who are afflicted with rheumatism in any form to take Hood's Sarsaparilla." EZRA BENEDICT, Stromsburgh, Nebraska.

My Knee Has Been Cured

BOSTON SOCIETY'S RADICAL INNOVATIONS AT POKER.

Decks of Sixty Cards and "Ringdoodles" Among the New Features—Sympathy For Losers and Luncheon With "A Wee Nip" For All—The Little Kitty.

Could the late Minister Schenck, who gave to the world during his diplomatic life a treatise on the fascinating American game, attend a modern poker party he would certainly declare that the world has moved backward, in one respect at least.

Very few people outside certain circles of the Back Bay have any conception of the extent to which poker playing is carried in that section. The whole locality is divided into "sets," and it is customary for each one to hold a session at his or her house nearly every night in the week.

The usual hour for beginning play is 8 o'clock, and it is customary for the ladies to dress for the occasion, while the gentlemen not infrequently array themselves in full evening costume.

The standard limit is 10 cents, one reason for making it so small being that the conscientious shall not feel that they are gambling. It is frequently remarked by this one and that one that they have not come out for the purpose of making anything—only to have a social time. This statement appears somewhat incongruous when placed side by side with the look of satisfaction that is noticeable when a good sized jackpot is taken in.

Another feature of society poker is the great amount of sympathy expressed for the players when the cards are running badly and they have been called upon to interview the bank for the fifth or sixth time. The heaviest dealers in sympathy are those who have the largest stack of chips before them. It does not cost anything, and it is believed by the ones who peddle it out that it will impress the others with a belief that they are real generous. But a careful observer will notice as the game progresses that the unlucky one is always raised by those who believe they have the best hands, notwithstanding the size of their stacks.

This is called poker table sympathy and is as shallow and meaningless as much of the talk heard among society people.

Generally there are three hours of play, after which the hostess asks her guests to a light repast, consisting of sardines, crackers, cheese and sweetmeats. Bottled beer is the favorite beverage, but there are instances on record where something stronger has been indulged in. A great many society people of both sexes drink rum punch, lemonade dashed with whisky and plain gin.

The usual time devoted to refreshments is 15 minutes, as all are anxious to get at the cards again.

Now the peculiar features of society poker, which are contrary to the "formula" presented by the lamented Schenck, are novel and numerous, and while they are readily accepted by nine-tenths of those who play just for the fun of the thing, yet the other tenth is unalterably opposed to them, but, acting in accordance with the principle that the majority should rule, all efforts to have the game rid of them have been abortive.

The most pain that the small minority experiences in playing the evoluted game is when the 60 card decks are brought in. It frequently happens that seven and eight players are present at a sitting, and when everybody "stays" the cards fall short, which necessitates gathering up the "dead wood" and filling out the hands from it. There is a well grounded superstition that these discards have been robbed of everything of value, and that to draw from them is equivalent to throwing the chips into a redhot stove. To in a measure meet these exigencies 11 and 12 spot cards have been added, making the pack consist of 60 cards instead of 52. Those who have been accustomed to play at the clubs, where the game still retains all its Schenckian purity, have a chill when they find these obtrusive cards are to confront them.

Another innovation is the "ringdoodle." Where the word originated is a mystery fully as deep as the practice it designates.

A ringdoodle is declared when a hand has been called and fours are shown. Then follows a round of jack pots, the holder of the winning hand starting them. Blue chips are put up to correspond with the number of players. Of course this makes a heavy drain on the stacks which have been lowered through the evening by ill luck, and if the owner of one of these happens to be an opponent of the ringdoodle, he goes off on a long dissertation on how the game was once played. Of course a round of jack pots would be equivalent to a ringdoodle, but it comes easier to some players to pay on the installment plan.

It has now become the custom to make a discount of one red chip for every jack pot. Although this is a pretty heavy rake off, yet it all comes back to the players just before the wind up for the evening.

When time has crept on toward midnight, the keeper of the kitty announces that a round of consolation jacks will be played. The chips are divided into a number of piles corresponding with the number of players, and the extras are placed in the center of the table with the individual contributions.

When society plays poker, there is always a big supply of cards on hand. If luck runs badly for a player a new pack is demanded, but it is rarely fortune changes her plans. She names the unfortunate ones before the game starts, and no form of device will bring about an alteration in her programme.—Boston Herald.

The Cable Code.

One of the curiosities of the cable code method of sending information is shown in a recent message announcing the loss by fire of a ship at sea. The whole message was conveyed in three words of Scott's cable code: "Smouldered; hurrah; hallelujah!" "Smouldered" stands for "the ship has been destroyed by fire," "hurrah" for "crew saved by boats" and "hallelujah" for "all hands saved—inform wives and sweethearts."—New York Tribune.

FAMOUS POLITICAL PHRASE.

Used In Different Forms by Lincoln, Theodore Parker and Webster.

In a letter headed "Not Lincoln's Own Words," a correspondent points out that the words "government of the people, by the people, for the people," in the famous Gettysburg address were not original with Lincoln. He attempts to further show that they were original with Henry Wilson, and were quoted by Lincoln from a letter written in 1860 by Wilson to certain persons in Boston.

In a speech delivered at the New England antislavery convention, Boston, May 29, 1850, by Theodore Parker, may be found the expression "a government of all the people, by all the people, for all the people," the exact language, with the exception of one word, of that ascribed to Wilson and employed by Lincoln. But still further back had the same idea been expressed in substantially the same way by Daniel Webster in one of his most splendid oratorical efforts, whose every phrase was familiar to all patriotic Americans long before Parker uttered his speech or Wilson wrote his letter. In his second speech on Foot's resolution, Jan. 26, 1830, Webster used these words, "The people's government, made for the people, made by the people and answerable to the people."

The phrase discussed belongs no more to Wilson than to Lincoln. The words can no more be said to have been "quoted" by Lincoln from Wilson than from Parker or Webster. Lincoln was familiar with the writings and speeches of Parker. He had probably never seen this particular letter of Wilson's. That his language should be exactly the same as that of the latter was a coincidence, but probably nothing more. The phrase was merely the expression, in the simplest, most direct language, of the glorious yet popular and familiar idea of the constitution and object of our form of government. The expression cannot be ascribed to any one man. Lincoln does not give the statement as a positive declaration—as a new coined phrase intended to add to his laurels as a public speaker, but uses the words as descriptive of our government in uttering the resolve that it "shall not perish from the earth."

That some words of the speech had been said before does not detract from the beauty or grandeur of Lincoln's address as a whole. His speech, which has been declared to be the greatest in the records of oratory of our own or any other country, was so not because it was the labored and polished effort of a practiced orator, but because of the greatness of the man, as a man, who uttered it.—Washington Star.

It Worked.

"I beg your pardon, lady," said Traveling Tommy as he stopped at the back door, "but if you will just smile I'll take your picture with this here camera. I am traveling on foot, making a collection of photos of our beautiful American women. Thanks, I have it."

Then the good woman offered him a generous hand out, which he accepted with the grace of a true knight of the road.

"You see," he explained to Willie Allthewhile, "it didn't take no work at all to paint that cigar box black and cut a round hole in the end, but it fetches 'em every time. They think it's a photograph taker, and their picture goes in the collection. Make one and cultivate your manners, and you can live like a prince."—Philadelphia Call.

Sand as a Filter.

It is well known that the thickness of the layer of fine sand in filtering beds cannot be reduced beyond a certain point without endangering the quality of the water that filters through. Dr. Kurth of Bremen has found in examining water filtered through a layer not sufficiently thick that the number of bacteria was greatly increased, owing to the presence of a special microbe that could not be found in the water before it entered the filter. These microbes must therefore have existed in the filtering material and have been developed by the passage of water through it.—Exchange.

Grim Faces.

To judge by their faces, one would think some people have the idea that because "a man may smile and smile and be a villain" only villains smile.—Louisville Western Recorder.
